Native grass hillside to the right of the Chevron Station in the Town of Woodside.
Stipa grass covers the slope about 50%, and in the shade of oaks have close to 100% cover of the native, shade-loving native Short Brome grass.

Stipa grass mowed, regrowing and staying green in June without rain or watering, after four years of severe drought.

Short Bromegrass, only growing in the shade of oaks on the hill to the right of Chevron Station, and in the gully below the Town Hall parking lot. These are the last stand for 10 miles.

Danthonia, formerly common now rare, growing only along the horse trail on Village Hill, plus a pristine Danthonia prairie on the Caltrans land next to Barkley Field.
